TELL ME ABOUT JOB CORPS GRADUATES.

Job Corps recognizes that there is more to a good employee than career technical training.

Every prospective Job Corps student is screened for drug use and behavioral problems. From their first day of class to the time they graduate, all Job Corps students adhere to a strict Zero Tolerance Policy for violence, alcohol and drugs.

In the classroom and on campus, Job Corps staff and instructors stress workplace accountability, job commitment and positive social skills.

Our graduates work with a career transition counselor for up to 18 months after graduation. During this period, our graduates are in regular contact with their counselors to receive assistance with such challenges as finding a place to live and investigating transportation options – all of the things that make for a smooth transition into the workforce.

WHAT IS JOB CORPS?

Administered by the U.S. Department of Labor, Job Corps provides career technical training and education to students ages 16 through 24 on a voluntary enrollment basis. The program offers training in more than 100 career areas, including health care, information technology, manufacturing and other high-growth career areas, to more than 60,000 students annually.

Job Corps centers partner with nationally known employers as part of a rigorous training program that, combined with demanding academic curricula and ongoing support, prepares students to excel in the 21st century workforce.

In addition to career training, Job Corps offers students the chance to receive their high school diplomas or GEDs and even begin earning credits for college coursework.
